Disclaimer: This Handbook is not an exhaustive list of all the services available for TPV holders in Queensland. It is an initial map of some of the services that can accept referrals and support TPV Holders in Brisbane and some regional areas. Compiled by QPASTT as part of the TPV Capacity Building Project at QPASTT, 2015. It has been updated May 2016.
Part 1: Visas

In December 2014, legislation changed and asylum seekers who arrive in Australia by boat or plane without valid visas will now only get a temporary visa if found to be a refugee and owed protection.

Bridging visas

Bridging visas are temporary visas which allow people to legally reside in the Australian community while they are applying for protection, appealing a decision relating to their visa, or making arrangements to leave Australia. Different restrictions are attached to these visas. For more info see Department of Immigration and Border Protection. www.immi.gov.au

Temporary Protection Visa (TPV) (subclass 785)
A TPV is valid for up to three years, after which they must reapply for protection and have their claims reassessed.

Safe Haven Enterprise Visa (SHEV) (subclass 790)
The SHEV is a five year temporary protection visa for people found to be a refugee who intend to live in a designated regional area to work or study. For more information see Department of Immigration and Border Protection, as to when SHEVs will be available and their details.

Temporary Humanitarian Visas (Subclasses 786, 449)
Some Temporary Humanitarian Concern (Subclass 786) and Temporary Humanitarian Stay (Subclass 449) visas were granted before new temporary protection laws were passed. They have similar entitlements to a subclass 785 TPV. Asylum seekers will normally be granted a TPV or a SHEV.

Applying for Temporary Protection
Asylum seekers applying or waiting for decisions on their protection claims will be on Bridging visas or in community detention with some limited social security benefits.

How may a Temporary Visa affect health?
There may be serious negative impacts on the health and wellbeing of Temporary Visa holders due to the combined effects of:
- family separation
- lack of access to adequate support services
- prolonged uncertainty and insecurity stemming from temporary status
- a history of torture and trauma

A 2006 study by mental health experts with the previous cohort of TPV holders in Australia, found that refugees on TPVs experienced higher levels of anxiety, depression and post-traumatic stress disorder than refugees on permanent Protection visas, even though both groups of refugees had experienced similar levels of past trauma and persecution in their home countries.1
If you are concerned about the mental health of a temporary protection visa holder:

Consider a referral to Qld Program of Assistance to Survivors of Torture and Trauma (QPASTT) or call (07) 3391 6677.

Where can I get more Information?

The Refugee and Immigration Legal Service (RAILS) in partnership with QPASTT, have developed a fact sheet about processing of asylum seeker protection claims, TPVs and SHEVs (English, Arabic, Dari, Farsi & Tamil). See also www.rails.org.au

Part 2: Overview

Things to consider when working with TPV Holders

Some TPV holders may have already been living in the community as an asylum seeker on a bridging visa for many years, with or without work rights. The change in visa may mean they now have work rights, access to Employment Service Providers (Jobactive) but no longer have access to a Case Manager from a Settlement Agency. Although the key goal of many TPV holders may be to gain employment, many needs may need to be addressed.

Consider:

1. Social Connections
   TPV holders will not have a Case Manager from a Settlement agency so consider linking to other services for counselling, case coordination, groups, free English classes and practical support. E.g.
   - QPASTT – Individual counselling and Groups.
   - Romero Centre
   - Groups offered by settlement agencies (check eligibility)
   - Community Centres/Free community English classes/Welcome Hubs
   - Culture in Mind
   - Personal Helpers and Mentors’ Programs (PHaMs)
   - Harmony Place groups

2. Financial Support
   TPV holders are eligible for Centrelink payments and a Centrelink Health Care Concession Card but they may not be receiving much support from their employment provider due to the ‘stream’ they have been assessed by Centrelink. It is important to contact Centrelink with a ‘Permission to Enquire Form’ which is available from the Department of Human Services website, to ensure your client is on the right payment and receiving the appropriate support from their Employment Support Provider (Jobactive). If not, you can advocate to have their stream reassessed (they are eligible to receive the highest stream of support), to receive more support to find employment or training options. There are some limited Emergency Relief options at community organisations, listed in this handbook. Additionally, Basic Rights Queensland (formerly known as the Welfare Rights Centre) is a community legal service to assist people with the social security system.

3. Employment & Education Support
   Consider requesting Centrelink to re-assess the stream if appropriate so that the client obtains appropriate job search and job readiness support from their allocated Jobactive provider. Some organisations like PHaMs Employment Services can support clients to get the most out of their Jobactive service. Ensure the TPV holder is accessing any education they may be eligible for (Eg: AMEP and SEE Program).
Contact Centrelink Multicultural Support Officer (MSO) to clarify or advocate. You may also need to contact the Fair Work Ombudsman and the appropriate Union to address workplace rights and obligations, if needed.

4. Health Services
   Ensure TPV holder is linked into a local GP and appropriate mental health services. Eg: Find a local GP and if there are complex mental health needs, consider linking to one of the many Partners in Recovery (PIR) organisations to coordinate care. Referral to these organisations is through a central intake point in each region. The Queensland Transcultural Mental Health Centre (QTMHC) can assist with culturally appropriate mental health assessment and advice.

5. Housing
   Many of the tenancy support services are no longer funded, but legal advice is still available at Tenants Queensland which operates a telephone advice service (1300 744 263). Brisbane Homelessness Service Collaborative (BHSC) is a central referral point for housing assistance. Rent Connect can assist with rent reductions.

6. Legal Services
   TPV holders have been given a protection visa but may still need to access legal support about a range of other legal issues. Some community legal organisations offer free legal advice sessions, based on need.
1. Social Connections

As TPV and SHEV holders will have no access to a Case Manager at a Settlement Agency it is important to consider other ways to link clients to practical support, groups and the local community through Community Centres (listed below).

Many Community Centres also offer Welcome Hubs which offer specific activities designed to welcome people from refugee backgrounds to their local community, such as free English classes and social support groups. These groups and contact details are subject to change. For a list of updated Welcome Hubs, days and times www.yourEnglishcorner.com

TPV Holders can attend any Community Centre groups or free English class listed here.

2. Financial Support & Emergency Relief

Centrelink

Consider contacting a Multicultural Support Officer or Social Worker to help advocate within the system to make sure the TPV holder is on the correct payment. Personal Helpers and Mentors (PHaMS) Employment Services can assist TPV Holders by advocating and attending appointments with the client, at Centrelink and Jobactive.

Emergency Relief

Emergency relief funding is limited but the services listed below have some government funded emergency relief programs and some self-funded emergency relief such as ‘welfare support’ groups. It is worth approaching local charities, church groups or community centres for financial assistance.

Skilling Queenslanders for Work is a range of programs funded by Department of Education and Training and delivered by community organisations and local government. There may be important opportunities in the delivering agencies for TPV holders, however you will need to contact agencies to find out if TPV/SHEV holders are eligible for their programs. These include:

Community Work Skills - Gain nationally recognised skills and qualifications up to a Certificate III level

Work Skills Traineeships – 6 month traineeship on community, construction or environmental projects.

Get Set for Work - Intensive employment and training assistance over a 12 month period to young, disengaged Queenslanders aged 15-19 years.

Ready for Work - Assists young people aged 15-24 to transition into the workforce by providing 6-8 week courses focused on job search assistance and training.

A number of agencies have been funded under these programs. Please look on the Department of Education and Training website for possible contacts (dependant on location and target group).

Fair Work Ombudsman
Information and advice about workplace rights and obligations.
Helps in situations where employees:
- think they’ve been underpaid or want to find out if they’ve been underpaid
- are being threatened, discriminated against, or forced to do things against their will
- may not be getting the right leave or other conditions
- may be in a 'sham' contract

Mental Health

Consider linking TPV/SHEV holders to a GP who can refer to the ATAPS (Access to Psychological Services Program). Patients are eligible for a maximum of 12 sessions per calendar year - six time-limited sessions with an option for a further six sessions following a mental health review by the referring GP.

Qld Program of Assistance to Survivors of Torture and Trauma (QPASTT)

QPASTT provides counselling, social and therapeutic groups to children, young people, adults and families to people who have survived refugee related torture or trauma prior to arriving in Australia. All services are free and confidential. QPASTT is not a crisis service.

The main office is in Woolloongabba, Brisbane with a smaller office in Logan. QPASTT provides services from these offices, and conduct outreach services in the Gold Coast, Goodna, Inala and Ipswich. QPASTT also provides counselling services across regional Queensland including: Toowoomba, Rockhampton, Townsville and Cairns.

Groups available to TPV Holders:

Youth programs

Phone (07) 3036 4444
BHSC Visiting Service hours are 9.30am - 1pm on TUESDAYS and FRIDAYS at Kurilpa Hall, 174 Boundary Street, West End.

They can assist TPV/SHEV holders to apply for a referral to the key community housing organisations. It is best if they already have applied for Department of Housing and bring that reference number with them.

MICAH PROJECTS INC

Micah’s services are based at the Brisbane Homelessness Service Collaborative (BHSC), and provide both centre-based and outreach support.

Services are provided seven days per week from 6am – 2am to respond to rough sleepers. They work with people in temporary accommodation and assist them to make the transition into permanent, affordable housing linked in with community services. Services are not time-limited.

Young People

Career Employment Australia - Reconnect-NAYS (Newly Arrived Youth Specialists)

Work with young refugees/Unaccompanied Humanitarian Minors between the ages of 12-21 who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. The client must have arrived within Australia in 5 or less years. Help young people find accommodation and also help with Centrelink and other needs they may have.

Catchment area covers part of North Brisbane to Ipswich (but happy to accept all QPASTT clients). They can support TPV/SHEV holders and use interpreters.

Brisbane Youth Service (BYS)

Vulnerable young people (aged 12-25) and their accompanying children. Assist young people to find and maintain appropriate housing, address physical & mental health issues and establish successful relationships & support networks.
Logan – YFS
YFS can help you if you are having a hard time keeping your home or if you are homeless. We can work with you to find and keep somewhere to live.
